SPEAKERS

Priscilla Reid

Priscilla’s home church is Christian Fellowship Church, Belfast, Northern Ireland, where she serves on the teaching team. This is the church that her husband Paul pastored for over twenty-five years and where she was an elder. They transitioned out of the senior leadership and in the last decade have had the opportunity to travel. They are committed to help strengthen local churches wherever God opens the door. Priscilla’s passion is to see women take their place alongside men in the church to fulfil their God given calling. She is convinced that ordinary people can make a difference. Priscilla loves literature and during the pandemic published a poetry book, “Love The Thread: Poems from my heart to yours.” She has four grown up daughters, four sons-in-law, eleven granddaughters and a grandson. Being a granny is the best season in life ever.

Lucy Hill

Lucy, originally from Belfast, now lives in Dublin with her husband Ross and 3 girls, Maddie, Ruby and Iris.

Lucy is currently serving as the National Director for 24-7 Prayer in Ireland helping to inspire the body of Christ across Ireland into the deep and challenging waters of prayer, mission and justice. She also helps co-lead a house church community in Dublin called Eden Collective and serves on the board of Tearfund in Ireland.

Lucy is passionate about seeing young leaders equipped and especially seeing young women released to lead in the church.

She also loves a bit of retail therapy and a good book.
